FOUNDATION COURSE

Foundation courses in humanities and behavioural sciences are academic programs that aim to introduce students to the basic concepts, theories, and methods of these disciplines. They are usually offered at the undergraduate level, and may be required for students who want to pursue further studies or careers in these fields. Some of the benefits of taking foundation courses in humanities and behavioural sciences are:

They help students develop critical thinking, communication, and research skills that are useful for any discipline or profession.

They expose students to a variety of perspectives, cultures, and values that enrich their understanding of themselves and the world.

They foster curiosity, creativity, and empathy that can inspire students to pursue their passions and interests.

They provide a solid foundation for students who want to specialize in a particular branch of humanities or social sciences, such as literature, history, philosophy, psychology, sociology, economics, etc.

Exceptional individuals achieve greatness and success by virtue of their solid and robust foundations. The construction of these foundations originates from the household, community, and establishment. The implementation of foundation courses at an institution leads to a significant improvement in the academic Self Study Report of SSVPHOMOEOPATHIC MEDICAL COLLEGE AND RESEARCH INSTITUTE standards and overall quality of students. At Homoeopathic college, our administration, teachers, and staff members are consistently focused on establishing a strong educational base for our students. Per our quality policy, as stated in our Vision and Mission statement, our university is dedicated to improving the overall quality of our students. Our day starts with an assembly and prayer, as we firmly believe that prayer serves as a fundamental cornerstone for establishing a connection and fostering friendship with God. In addition, at the Homoeopathic college, each meeting and program starts with a prayer, aiming to foster moral values and create a clean atmosphere. In order to improve student performance, the College is regularly organizing a variety of courses (such as Trillis, focusing on ethics and discipline), lectures (such as EMR, on personality development and doctorpatient connection), seminars/webinars, and training programs (specifically for Covid-19 in different states). Prominent lecturers from many fields are invited to provide their foundational lectures at this university. Every year, at the beginning of each new session, lectures are organized during the orientation program to instill discipline both at the individual and institutional level. Periodically, motivational presentations and special lectures are organized to enhance the morale and instill ethical principles in pupils. Annual courses in Behavioural science are also offered. Ruhi is a literature that imparts a solid foundation and moral values to pupils, emphasizing the unity of humanity, the existence of a single religion, and the belief in a one deity. These principles encompass the essence
